The Fall concert series runs from September 6 to October 25 with the following bands slated to perform:

- September 6: The Wildflowers (New)
- September 13: Satisfaction
- September 20: Rocket Man
- September 27: Hard Night's Day

So the music is covered, but what to pack in your picnic? Feel free to bring wine, soda, water or whatever your drink of choice along. It's always good to have some bug spray handy for the concert as well. Of course you'll want to pack a favorite picnic blanket (or two) so you can stretch out and enjoy the show. If you'd rather not pack your own food, there are items for purchase from local food trucks, parked on-site.

Make the most of your Cool Thursday experience by arriving early and strolling through the gardens before heading to the concert stage. This is the perfect opportunity to enjoy all the Arboretum has to offer as the sun makes its descent. Gates open at 6pm and close at the conclusion of the show. All performances begin at 7pm and are held on the Martin Rutchik Concert Lawn, which is approximately a five-minute walk from the main gate. For more information, visit www.dallasarboretum.org.

Medieval Times

Dallas, TX

The Queen has taken the reigns at Medieval Times! Experience an all-new show... In a major break from Medieval Times' 34-year tradition of casting a king as the show's lead role, the company announced that a queen would now be in charge and sole ruler of the land. She is cast as a firm but kind ruler respected throughout the kingdom who inherited the throne at the passing of her father, the previous king. The company's leadership developed the idea to cast a matriarch, based in part on guest feedback that they would like to see women having more significant roles.

Jousting, fighting, horsemanship, swordplay and a fresh, hot, four-course feast remain central elements of the dinner attraction. With the cast and script change come a series of other significant changes to the show:

- More than 700 new costumes for all nine castles' performers including horses, all of which are custom-designed and hand-made at a dedicated costume shop near Dallas Design District.
- 200 new suits of armor, shields, and helmets, all of which are custom-designed and hand-made at a dedicated armory in Florida.
- More than 350 team members and 225 horses train and rehearse new lines and fight scenes for three months while still presenting the current show.
- It takes two months to teach a queen to ride an Andalusian stallion.
- New music was composed by Dr. Daniel May, composer and jazz pianist who scored "Everest" and other films and who worked with Sting, The Moody Blues and others. He directed and recorded Medieval Times' new show composition in Kiev with the National Symphony Orchestra of Ukraine. He directed the choir in Ukraine with lyrics written by poet and choir member Solomia Gorokhivska, and a solo cellist and violin player from Pittsburgh, PA.
- The audience experiences a live action film score that is precisely synchronized with every element of the show, from lights to fights; jousts to jabs; the Queen's entry to curtain closings; and more.
- The sound and light team spends 120 hours programming 300 new music cues and 500 new lighting cues. Several castles are installing and programming a new LED lighting system that offers 256 colors versus the old 14-color system. The system is powered by 10 miles of cable and an estimated million-dollar upgrade.
